

OUR WORKSHOP

We make our Cookits out of plastic flute board in order to withstand the rigors of the African bush country.

Reflective polyester is attached on the "face" of our cookers and has a brilliant reflection much like a mirror.

Volunteers make them with care and precision. Sometimes they may go to their own families !

We packed them up to send to Sudan. But before they were sent we had a class of students write notes of encouragement on the backs to the women of Darfur. These students from Orchard School raised money to send these cookers all the way to Sudan! This is an effort that takes all of us. Thanks for your help!
